Johnna Goodmark practices in the areas of commercial real estate and general corporate law. Johnna focuses on the representation of clients in transactions involving the acquisition, disposition, financing, development and leasing of commercial real property. Johnna represents a broad array of clients, including REITs, owners and developers of retail, industrial, multi-family, hotel and medical office projects, and owners and managers of timberland property. Johnna is experienced in the drafting and negotiation of purchase and sale agreements, leases and ground leases, and loan and security documents. Johnna also represents clients in residential and commercial property tax appeals and provides general corporate representation on matters such as entity formation, corporate governance, commercial and employment contracts.

Johnna graduated cum laude from the University of Georgia with a major in philosophy. She attended Tulane Law School. While there, Johnna was selected as a winner of Tulane's Moot Court Intraschool Brief Writing Competition (1994), served as a member of Tulane's National Appellant Moot Court Team (1994-1995), served as a student practitioner for the Tulane Appellate Advocacy Clinic (1994-1995), and was a member of the Public Interest Law Foundation (1994-1995).

Prior to becoming a partner with Tatum Hillman Hickerson & Powell, LLP, Johnna was a commercial real estate partner with Tatum, Levine & Powell, LLP. Johnna also worked as an associate for a number of years in the real estate finance and development group at Powell Goldstein, LLP and as an associate in the community associations group at Weissman, Nowack, Curry & Wilco, P.C.

During a sabbatical, Johnna and her husband traveled independently around the world for fifteen months. Johnna has worked as a Senior Development Associate at The Atlanta Women's Foundation. Johnna is currently the president of the Parent Teacher Advisory Council of The Frazer Center. Johnna has served as a volunteer for Georgia Lawyers for the Arts and on the Board of Directors of Seven Stages Theatre.

Johnna and her husband have two children. In her spare time, Johnna enjoys running, snowboarding, photography and travel.
